Dear Anny Bannany... Beware! Dick (on the) Head

Dear Anny Bannany,
There is this guy I know that has a growth on his head that on close inspection resembles a small penis, and he is constantly playing with it. It has been there for years and he can't keep his hands off the darn thing. His fingers shake with pleasure as he digs away at it. It is so gross. Sometime he gets it bleeding and doesn't know it because it is located in the hair where he can't see it. I am afraid he will pass on some kind of nasty germ as he hangs out in places that I go. It's just not sanitary.
Could there be bugs in it? This is a nuisance. What should I do?

Signed,
Grossed out

Dear Grossed out, Anny Bannany is not a doctor so I cannot comment on the bugs. You are right. It is gross! What if he touched someone's food? Yuck.
This is obviously a person to avoid. He probably doesn't wash his hands either (gack, barf). If you find yourself in a social situation with this weirdo just say, "Hey Dick (on the) Head, beat it!"

Signed,
Anny Bannany
