Bartender of the Month Mindy Cotten at Coconut's

Not many people come as highly recommended as Mindy Cotten for the Coconut Telegraph's Bartender of the Month. Cotton is a Florida native originally from Cocoa Beach who served four years in active duty with the Marine Corps and did two tours in Iraq as a diesel mechanic.

She is the oldest of five and when she became inactive she moved to the Keys to help her Mom with the kids. Cotten is not only strikingly beautiful but she's a girl with priorities as illustrated in an enormous tattoo across her chest, a heart with a ribbon through it that simply says Family/Friends. In addition to working behind the bar she is also attending college at the Art Institute of Miami as a photography major.

A five-year veteran bartender she calls herself a 'picky bartender'. "I want my drinks to look as good as they taste," says Cotten.

When I tell her that her boss, Coconut's owner Colleen, highly recommended her she smiles and says, "I love it when Colleen is here, she really gets things done!"

Coconut's manager Roger says, "Mindy is a spectacular addition to our staff. Her Military Service background combined with her skills in the service industry provide for excellent customer service."

So stop in and see Mindy Cotten at Coconut's on Tuesdays for Free Taco's and Open Mic Night; Wednesdays for Ladies Night; sometimes on Friday; but always Sundays during the day.

"Mindy's Military Service background combined with her skills in the service industry make for excellent customer service."

The Dos and Don'ts of Happy Hour

- Do get to know your bartenders. Don't get to "intimately" know every person at the bar.
- Do be courteous to people squeezing in to get a drink. Don't steal a regular's bar stool.
- Bring your dogs, cats and birds but keep your crying babies away from me.
- Do enjoy the $1 drafts Don't tip 20% on a $3 tab... be generous.
- Make conversation with your fellow drinkers, don't make-it with their wives or husbands.
- Do tip double if the bartender buys you a drink or pours you a double. Don't expect anything for free.
- Ladies, do go to ladies night for free drinks. Don't forget to tip big, usually double if you're drinking free.
- Do enjoy your beverages. Don't drink and drive, call Mom's Taxi.
- Do dance to the live music. Don't forget to tip your entertainer.
