FKLCC Adds Rocky Horror Show and Steel Magnolias

Holding Community Auditions

The Friends of The Key Largo Cultural Center (FKLCC) announce two productions have been added to their list of cultural events held at the Murray Nelson Government and Cultural Center. FKLCC has included the Rocky Horror Show in its October schedule and Steel Magnolias on its November calendar.

FKLCC is holding community auditions for both productions, Wednesday, Aug. 10 and Thursday, Aug. 11, 6 to 11 p.m., at The Murray Nelson Government and Cultural Center, MM 102.

Rocky Horror Show, longest running British horror comedy musical, follows the misadventures of a pair of innocents who cross paths with deranged villains.

"We are looking for community members to be part of this campy, fun-filled production," said Debra Ginsberg, FKLCC artistic director. "What a better way to celebrate Halloween than with a homage to the Rocky Horror Show -- the musical with monsters and freaks!"

FKLCC is also looking for community members to fill roles in Steel Magnolias, which tells the story of six seemingly frail Southern belles with backbones as tough as nails and wills of steel.

When coming for auditions, be prepared to sing a song of your choice or even "Happy Birthday" to the director. Also, be prepared to dance a few easy dance steps and read from the script.

"If you breathe, can chew gum and feel comfortable as your sexy self, we want you to come to this audition," said Ms. Ginsberg.

For more information about auditions, visit FKLCC's website at fklcc.org.

The Friends of the Key Largo Cultural Center will present cultural programs that utilize the Murray E. Nelson Government and Cultural Center's theater/auditorium for the benefit of Key Largo visitors, tourists and residents.
