

Free Lecture: Aquarius 2013 and Beyond

FIU and the Friends of the Key Largo Cultural Center offer a free lecture October 12th at 7p.m. at the Murray Nelson Cultural Center at the 102 mile marker, bayside.

The Aquarius Reef Base, off the shores of Key Largo, has been used by NASA and universities for scientific studies. Find out why this base is unique and what the future holds as the Aquarius Foundation works to keep it open. This is the premier event for the upcoming season of the Ocean Life Series.

Mark Patterson, the lecturer, is a professor of Marine Science at the College of William and Mary's Virginia Institute of Marine Science. Dr. Patterson has used the Aquarius Reef Base to conduct research since 1984. He will present the new business model for the Aquarius, and the future of human habitation of the sea floor.

The event will begin at 6:00 p.m. with a meet and greet with the speaker, followed by a lecture at 7:00 p.m. For more information, contact Linda Kaplan at linda@fklcc.org or (305) 396-7000, or visit seas.fiu.edu.

Ocean Life

2012-2013 series
