T'was A Florida Keys Christmas

T'was the night before Christmas and all through the islands,
no noses were frozen, no snow on the garlands,
no children in flannels were tucked into bed,
they all wore their skivvies instead.

To find wreaths of mangroves, t'was not very hard,
for mangroves grew in every back yard.

In front of the houses, Dads and Moms were adorning the hibiscus' and coconut palms.

The sleeping kiddies were dreaming in glee,
hoping to find paddle boards under the tree.

They all knew that Santa was well on his way,
in a Keys Cruiser, instead of a sleigh.

And soon he arrived and started to work,
he hadn't a second to linger or shirk.

He whizzed down the stretch and zoomed up the road,
in a rusty old pick up, delivering his loads.

The tropical moon gave the Keys sky a glow,
and lighted the way for old Santa below.

As he jumped from the truck he gave a wee chuckle,
he was dressed in shorts with an Ivy league buckle,

There weren't any chimneys, but that caused no gloom,
for Santa came in through the screened in room.

He stopped at each house.... stayed only a minute,
emptying his sack of stuff that was in it.

Before he departed, he treated himself
to a glass of Captain Morgan hid up on the shelf.

He turned with a jerk and bounced to the truck,
having to leave paradise was really gonna suck.

He shifted the gears and stepped on the gas and up US 1 he went like a flash.

And I heard him exclaim
as he went on his way,

MERRY CHRISTMAS
Y'ALL,
I WISH I
COULD STAY!
