

Stay Clear: Crocodile Nests Hatching

We are nearing the crocodile nest hatching period. The principle nesting site of the American Crocodile in Florida is Florida Bay but there are some nests along the Florida Keys. Nesting is a wet season activity occurring around the end of April and the beginning of May. Females lay between 20 to 60 eggs per clutch and the eggs will incubate for about 85 days, hatching in late July or early August. The is usually the time the female Crocodile returns to her nest site to assist the hatchlings in reaching the water. If you notice a large Crocodile watching a specific area (nests aren't always easily recognized) stay clear and if your concerned call the FWC at 866-392-4286 or email SNAP@MyFWC.com.
