“Lexophile”

is a term used to describe those who are clever with words, such as “you can tune a piano but you can’t tuna fish,” or “to write with a broken pencil is pointless.”

A competition to see who can come up with the best lexphilies is held every year in Dubuque, Iowa. The year’s winning submissions:

- ... A thief who stole a calendar got twelve months.
- ... The batteries were given out free of charge.
- ... A dentist and a manicurist married. They fought tooth and nail.
- ... A will is a dead giveaway.
- ... With her marriage, she got a new name and a dress.
- ... A boiled egg is hard to beat.
- ... Police were called to the daycare centre, where a three-year-old was resisting a rest.
- ... Did you hear about the fellow whose whole left side was cut off? He’s all right now.

Everglades Science Center Benefit Concert at Cafe Moka!

Please join us Friday November 16th at Café Moka in Tavernier for a night of food, fun, and live music! Doors open at 6pm and the music starts at 7pm. The audience will have the opportunity to participate in a silent auction that will include two large John James Audubon prints graciously donated by Audubon Florida. Tickets are $20 at the door and all proceeds will go to support Audubon's Everglades Science Center.

Music for the Benefit will be provided by E.R.I.C., a phenomenal (Jam Band meets Dylan) original music ensemble (vimeo.com/blame_ERIC)! Opening for them will be the great local favorite, Leah Sutter.

The Everglades Science Center (ESC) was established in Tavernier in 1939, by National Audubon's first Director of Research, Robert Porter Allen. Allen began a full-time study of the Roseate Spoonbill, living among them in a tent for weeks at a time. His research changed the way scientists studied birds. He began almost 80 years of data collection investigating the spoonbill and its habitat which is the foundation for critical decision making in restoration work today.

Combined with this, ESC scientists are studying the flow of freshwater into Florida Bay and the impacts that diversion of this water has had throughout the Everglades ecosystem.

Dr. Jerry Lorenz continues the Roseate Spoonbill studies today, working with staff and volunteers to collect nesting information across Florida Bay. Data analyses show shifts in nesting distribution due to habitat destruction in the Keys. Lorenz has demonstrated spoonbill sensitivity to changes in the quantity and quality of their foraging habitat, and this led to the spoonbills being added as an "indicator species" to the Everglades Restoration Plan.
