A guy asked a girl in a library, “Do you mind if I sit beside you?”

The girl answered with a loud voice, “I DON’T WANT TO SPEND THE NIGHT WITH YOU!!!”

All the students in the library started staring at the guy and he was embarrassed.

After a couple of minutes, the girl walked quietly to the guy’s table and she told him “I study psychology and I know what a man is thinking. I guess you felt embarrassed, right?”

The guy responded with a loud voice: “$200 JUST FOR ONE NIGHT!? THAT’S TOO MUCH!!!” As all the people in the library looked at the girl in shock, the the guy whispered in her ear, “I study Law and I know how to make someone feel guilty!”

She said she missed me. Normally that would be good, but she’s reloading.

An Irishman and an Englishman walk into a bakery.

The Englishman steals 3 buns and puts them into his pockets and leaves. He says to the Irishman, "That took great skill and guile to steal those buns. The owner didn't even see me."

The Irishman replied, "That's just simple thievery. I'll show you how to do it the honest way and get the same results."

The Irishman then proceeded to call out the owner of the bakery and says, "Sir, I want to show you a magic trick." The owner was intrigued so he came over to see the magic trick.

The Irishman asked him for a bun and then he proceeded to eat it. He asked 2 more times and after eating them again the owner says, "Okay my friend, Where's the magic trick?"

The Irishman said, "Look in the Englishman's pockets."

The person sitting next to me on a flight was a woman. Ever the charmer, I used one of my pick-up lines on her.

I asked, “Does the airline charge you extra for sitting next to good-looking men?”

“Yes,” she replied, “but I wasn’t willing to pay.”

Storm season is beginning. If a news van pulls into your driveway remember: teeth and bras people. Teeth and bras.

It was entertainment night at the Convalescent Center. Claude the hypnotist explained to the audience, “I’m here to put you all in a trance. I intend to hypnotize each and every one of you.”

The excitement was almost electric as Claude withdrew a beautiful, antique pocket watch from his coat. “I want all of you to keep your eyes on this watch. It is a very special watch. It’s been in my family for six generations.” He began to gently swing the watch back and forth while quietly chanting, “Watch the watch, watch the watch, watch the watch...”

The crowd became mesmerized as the watch swayed back and forth, the light gleaming off its polished surface. A hundred pairs of eyes followed the swaying watch until suddenly...the chain broke. It slipped from the hypnotist’s fingers and fell to the floor, breaking into a hundred pieces. Claude yelled out, “Crap.”

It took three days to clean up the Center and Claude was never invited back.

I don't care what people think of me. At least mosquitos find me attractive.

A pastor’s wife was expecting a baby, so he stood before the Congregation and asked for a raise. After much discussion, they passed a rule that whenever the pastor’s family expanded so would his paycheck.

After 6 children, this started to get expensive and the congregation decided to hold another meeting to discuss the pastor’s expanding salary. A great deal of yelling and inner bickering ensued, as to how much the pastor’s additional children were costing the church, and how much more it could potentially cost. After listening to them for about an hour, the pastor rose from his chair and spoke, “Children are a gift from God, and we will take as many gifts as He gives us.”

Silence fell over the congregation. In the back pew, a little old lady struggled to stand, and finally said in her frail voice “Rain is also a gift from God, but when we get too much of it, we wear rubbers.” The entire congregation said, “Amen.”

A lonely 70-year-old widow decided that it was time to marry again. She put an ad in the local newspaper that read: “Husband wanted! Must be in my age group, must not beat me, must not run around on me and must still be good in bed. All applicants please apply in person.”

The following day, she heard the doorbell. Much to her dismay, she opened the door to see a gray-haired gentleman sitting in a wheelchair. He had no arms or legs.

“You’re not really asking me to consider you, are you?” the widow asked: “Just look at you -- you have no legs!”

The old gent smiled: “Therefore, I cannot run around on you!”

“You don’t have any arms either!” she snorted.

Again, the old man smiled: “Therefore, I can never beat you!”

She raised an eyebrow and asked intently: “Are you still good in bed?”

The man leaned back, beamed a big smile and said: “I rang the doorbell, didn't I?”

Important reminder to residents and visitors that it's Florida panther nesting season.

A Florida State trooper pulled a car over about 2 miles west of Doral. When the trooper asked the driver why he was speeding, the driver said he was a Magician and Juggler and was on his way to Miami to do a show for the Children’s Hospital. He didn’t want to be late.

The trooper told the driver he was fascinated by juggling and said if the driver would do a little juggling for him then he wouldn’t give him a ticket. He told the trooper he had sent his equipment ahead and didn’t have anything to juggle.

The trooper said he had some flares in the trunk and asked if he could juggle them. The juggler said he could, so the trooper got 5 flares, lit them and handed them to him.

While the man was juggling, a car pulled in behind the State Trooper’s car. A drunken good old boy from the Keys got out, watched the performance, then went over to the Trooper’s car, opened the rear door and got in. The trooper observed him and went over to the car, and opened the door, asking the drunk what he thought he was doing.

The drunk replied, “You might as well take me to jail, cause there ain’t no way I can pass that test.”
